

Thomas "TJ" Paxton

Associate

tpaxton@cooley.com

+1 617 937 2473

Boston

Intellectual Property

Patent Counseling and Prosecution

Life Sciences

Patent Counseling and Prosecution – Life Sciences

Thomas has been a member of Cooley's patent counseling and prosecution practice group since 2014. His practice involves helping pharmaceutical, biotechnology, and startup companies develop and grow their intellectual property, and he closely collaborates with his clients on issues related to the strategic preparation and worldwide prosecution of patent applications. Thomas also counsels clients on matters related to due diligence and freedom-to-operate issues.

Thomas' background in organic chemistry and experience in patent prosecution empower him to advise his clients. Before joining Cooley, Thomas worked as a technical specialist at Sterne, Kessler, Goldstein & Fox in Washington, DC.

Education

Suffolk University Law School
JD, 2022

Stanford University
PhD, 2009

Boston College
BS, 2003

Admissions & Credentials

Massachusetts

Registered to practice before the United States Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO)