

Tyler Emory

Associate

TEemory@cooley.com

Financial Services Regulatory

+1 415 693 2151

San Francisco

Tyler's practice focuses on advising startups, established fintech companies and financial institutions on complex regulatory and transactional matters. He also provides guidance on issues pertaining to consumer financial services, artificial intelligence, open banking, money transmission and related compliance initiatives, anti-money laundering and countering the financing of terrorism (AML/CFT) under the federal Bank Secrecy Act and anti-money laundering regulations, the Electronic Fund Transfer Act (Regulation E), virtual currency issuance and transmission, rules administered by payment card networks and Nacha, and other rules and regulations applicable to fiat and cryptocurrency payments-related activities.

Education

University of California, Hastings College of Law
JD, 2022

University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA)
BA, 2016

Admissions & Credentials

California